

12th Novi Sad workshop on

Psycholinguistic, neurolinguistic and clinical linguistic research

Novi Sad
April 12, 2025

PROGRAMME

8.30-9.15 REGISTRATION

9.15-9.30 WELCOME NOTE

9.30-11 SESSION 1: LANGUAGE DISORDERS IN ADULTS (Chair: Silvia Martínez Ferreiro)

9.30-10 Lea Elias Isen & Kasper Boye (University of Copenhagen, Denmark): The speech of individuals with PTSD has features characteristic of Broca's aphasia

10-10.30 Zeynep Belendir (Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Norway): Morphological Processing in Patients with OCD

10.30-11 Anna Pietrzak (SFL, CNRS, France), Sylvie Moritz-Gasser (University of Montpellier, France) & Charlotte Hauser (SFL, CNRS, France): Adapting Phonological Components Analysis therapy to French Sign Language: a multiple case study

11-11.30 PRE-PLENARY LECTURE: Ljiljana Progovac (Wayne State University): Language/brain co-evolution: Focus on autism and the striatum

11.30-11.45 COFFEE BREAK

11.45-13.15 SESSION 2: CHILD LANGUAGE (Chair: Srđan Popov)

11.45-12.15 Margarita Xanthaki (Maastricht University, Netherlands) & Styliani N. Tsesmeli (University of Patras, Greece): Emergent morphological sensitivity in reading by Greek early school children

12.15-12.45 Tatiana Eremicheva (HSE University, Russia) & Svetlana Dorofeeva (HSE University, Russia): Reaction Time in Phonological Tests Predicts Reading Skills in Preschool Children

12.45-13.15 Guillaume Blais (Université de Montréal, Canada), Émilie Courteau (Dalhousie University, Canada), Karsten Steinhauer (McGill University, Canada) & Phaedra Royle (Université de Montréal, Canada): Brain potentials reveal that perceptual salience mediates maturation of French-speaking adolescents' auditory gender agreement processing

13.15-14 LUNCH BREAK

14-15 PLENARY LECTURE – Monica Norvik (University of Tromsø, The Arctic University of Norway): Challenges and choices in multilingual aphasia research

15-15.30 POSTER SESSION (Chair: Sabina Halupka-Rešetar)

Poster 01: Bernadett Dam (University of Szeged, Hungary): What can motor speech disorders tell us about the connection between language and speech?

Poster 02: Sofia Axioti (Leiden University, Netherlands): Syntactic adaptation in Modern Greek

Poster 03: Mauro Viganò (Université Paris VIII, France): The comprehension of French subject and object relatives in Primary Progressive Aphasia: Testing the role of number dissimilarity and phonological cues

Poster 04: Sophia Shumilova (HSE University, Russia), Olga V. Kruchinina (Russian Academy of Sciences, Russia), Natalia A. Slioussar (HSE University, Russia), Elizaveta I. Galperina (Russian Academy of Sciences, Russia), Daria V. Antropova (HSE University, Russia): Processing of Different Grammatical Features by Adolescents: an ERP Study on Russian

Poster 05: Charisti Styliara (University of Groningen, Netherlands): Pre-experimental Instructions and Distractors as Design Choices in Language-based EEG experiments

Poster 06: Federica Longo (Università degli Studi di Messina, Italy), Flavia Marino (IBIS-CNR, National Research Council, Italy) & Alessandra Falzone (Università degli Studi di Messina, Italy): Isn't it a wonderful day to go to the beach? How ASD children process rhetorical questions

Poster 07: Sara Božić (University of Belgrade, Serbia) & Dušica Filipović Đurđević (University of Belgrade; University of Novi Sad, Serbia): Influence of sensory information in priming among polysemous senses

Poster 08: Vesela Simeonova (Karl-Franzens-University of Graz, Austria), Elizaveta Kracheva (Université Côte d'Azur; CNRS, France), Diego Pescarini (Université Côte d'Azur; CNRS, France) & Seçkin Arslan (Université Côte d'Azur; CNRS, France): Determined, but not everywhere: regional variation in multiple determination in Bulgarian

15.30-18 SESSION 3: (NEURO & PSYCHO)LINGUISTICS (Chair: Seckin Arslan)

15.30-16 Olga Tuzhik (HSE University; Russian Academy of Sciences, Russia): Eye-tracking study of unambiguous anaphora resolution in Russian

16-16.30 Seçkin Arslan & Evangelia Adamou (French National Centre for Scientific Research (CNRS), France): Mapping the gradual loss of evidentiality in Pomak using a self-paced reading experiment

16.30-17 Philip Zakhariadis-Awad (Université Côte d'Azur; CNRS, France), Sofia Prokou (National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece) & Seçkin Arslan (Université Côte d'Azur; CNRS, France): Exploring contact-induced change in word order in Istanbul Greek

17-17.15 COFFEE BREAK

17.15-17.45 Ksenija Mišić (University of Belgrade, Serbia) & Dušica Filipović Đurđević (University of Belgrade; University of Novi Sad, Serbia): Distributional approach to polysemy disambiguation in error-driven learning

17.45-18.15 Milica Popović Stijačić (Singidunum University; University of Novi Sad, Serbia), Aleksandra Stanimirović (Singidunum University, Serbia), Iva Anžel Zuko (Singidunum University, Serbia) & Magdalena Miković (Singidunum University, Serbia): Similarities and Differences in the Emotional Experience of Emojis: A Serbian and Slovenian Sample

18.15-18.30 ROUND-UP